"One of the things I value most about my program is the chance to attend presentations by successful Católica alumni. Listening to people who were in our shoes just a few years ago and are now building careers in different fields helps me see how what we learn in class can be applied in real life. These sessions are not only inspiring but also provide practical insights into careers, internships, and the skills that employers truly value. Overall, I believe Católica is preparing me not just academically but also professionally and personally. The combination of excellent teaching, early exposure to the job market, and a diverse student body makes me more confident about my future and the decisions I am making today."
