Living in Lisbon

Lisbon has recently been ranked the safest capital city in Europe. It is a thriving cultural hub with a vibrant restaurant scene, diverse artistic activities and sporting events, good public transportation, a public healthcare system, historic architecture, among the best weather in Europe, and easy access to world-class beaches.

Position Requirements

Tenure-track faculty are expected to maintain a research program targeted at top-tier journals in their field. Católica-Lisbon provides them with ample support to do so. Salary is competitive, and funding for research-related activities, including travel to international conferences, is provided. In addition, faculty are supported to apply for research funding from the Portuguese Science Foundation (FCT) and other European funding agencies.

Candidates should be motivated to engage students in the classroom. Tenure-track positions involve teaching the equivalent of 3 courses per year, in English, at the undergraduate, MSc and MBA levels, and potentially in executive education programs. The teaching load may be additionally reduced in the first year.

Candidates must demonstrate the potential to publish in top-tier management journals. For Associate positions, candidates are expected to show a strong research track record in top-tier management journals, excellence in teaching, and the ability to add to the research reputation and productivity of the group. All applicants should have earned a Ph.D. in a relevant discipline from a recognized school by the date of the appointment.

Application Procedure

In order to receive full consideration, applicants should send: (i) a cover letter, (ii) a CV, (iii) a one-page research statement, (iv) a one-page teaching philosophy, (v) three confidential reference letters, (vi) up to three samples of research papers, (vii) and teaching evaluations (if available) by September 15, 2022.

We will host campus visits by invitation in Fall 2022.
